Feelings:

I like how the class is going so far, and I like your attitude a lot, how informal yet not awkward you can be. I don't really have much to say so far other than to keep it up =V=

Possible improvements:

I think more step-by-step explanations of how code works would be niceeee. For example, explaining the input() function could go something like: "A built in function called 'input()' is called, which asks the user for input through the terminal. Storing the value in a variable like 'user_input' reads something like: 'take the value input by the user, and store it in variable user_input'."

Also, I sometimes have a hard time figuring out which language I should be using to answer these assignments. I don't know whether answering in English would affect my score in any way, and I think that could be clarified a little bit more in class.
